

NH Narcan Trainers Program

The NH Narcan Trainers Program is designed as a train-the-trainer. The goal is to increase the number of state-wide trainers who can provide education to local personnel working with at-risk populations. The program focuses on how to recognize the signs and symptoms of an overdose, and how to assemble and administer naloxone (Narcan). Naloxone is an effective opioid antagonist, and is known to prevent deaths by reversing an overdose on opioids. The target audience: medical professionals who work in substance abuse, community health clinics, as well as MMRS and MRC members and other RPNH partner agencies that are interested in providing education to others. This class will consist of a Narcan cognitive skills verification module.
